

Forensic Computer Analyst

FAB Futures
FOCUSED AMBITIOUS BRIGHT

Forensic computer analysts investigate computer-based crime, often called cyber crime.

3.61% rise in employment over the next 5 years.

Typically working 37 - 39 hours per week with occasional evenings.

- Finding, recovering and copying data from disks that may have been hidden, encrypted or damaged.
- Revealing digital images that have been altered to mask the identity of a place or person.
- Analysing mobile phone records to trace devices to a particular location.

For more information please visit
wigan-leigh.ac.uk

Test Lead

 Test leads plan and co-ordinate the testing programmes when new computer systems and applications are being developed or upgraded.

 3.61% rise in employment over the next 5 years.

 Typically working 37 - 48 hours per week.

-
- Creating test plans for each stage of a product's development cycle.
 - Carrying out manual and automated tests within deadlines.
 - Reviewing completed tests and analysing the results.

For more information please visit
wigan-leigh.ac.uk

Cyber Intelligence Officer

FABFutures
FOCUSED AMBITIOUS BRIGHT

 Cyber intelligence officers gather information about where threats to information technology (IT) systems come from and how they work.

 3.61% rise in employment over the next 5 years.

 Typically working 37 - 40 hours per week with occasional evenings and weekends.

-
- Using computer forensics to identify attackers, their motivations and techniques.
 - Analysing threats to major security systems.
 - Monitoring new and evolving threats and assessing their potential impact.

For more information please visit
wigan-leigh.ac.uk

